Medicare Fight To Be Resumed

President Tells Ohio Democrats of Need

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The action of the Senate in turning down Medicare this session was a blow struck against the American family," President Kennedy said in a speech piped into the Ohio Democratic convention session Friday night from Newport, "I propose to resume the fight for Medicare next January and I want your help in making this wise and beneficial measure the law of the land," he added.

The President substituted for Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson as convention keynote after a scheduled mixup prevented Texan from attending the two-day convention.

Kennedy praised efforts of Ohio Democrats in this session of congress and called for reelection of U.S. Sen. Frank J. Lausche, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and more congressmen from Ohio by the party this fall. The Republicans outnumber them in the House, 16-7.

Citing the record of the current Congress, under Democratic leadership, Kennedy said it has passed in the last two years, "or will pass before this session is over," a housing bill, a minimum wage increase, an area redevelopment act, a manpower retraining bill, a public works act, a provision for an amendment to abolish the poll tax, regulation of the distribution of drugs, a farm bill, a tax bill and an unprecedented measure for trade expansion.

The President asserted the tide of Communism has been reversed during the 20 months he has held office.

When his administration took over on Jan. 6, 1961, Kennedy said Friday night:

"Khrushchev was on the move in Berlin, Genghis was on the move in the Congo, Castro was on the move in the Caribbean and Communists were on the move in Laos and South Viet Nam."

"In the months since, the tide has been reversed. We have taken the initiative in aid and trade and diplomacy. We have stopped the Communists in Laos and in South Viet Nam and in Berlin. Genghis is a forgotten figure. Castro, reduced to a state of desperation, has invited Soviet help—and thereby sealed his doom in South America and Cuba."

Ohio Dems Urged To Seek Progress

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle called on the Democratic state convention to adopt a platform today that would be a blueprint for Ohio progress.

After criticizing the recently adopted Republican state platform as full of contradictions and a "complete repudiation of their own candidate for governor," DiSalle expressed the hope that the Democratic platform would be sound in principle and capable of achievement; clarify rather than confuse.

DiSalle asserted that a Republican boast of flexibility in the GOP platform indicates that nothing will be done.

Without mentioning State Auditor James A. Rhodes by name, DiSalle said his Republican election foe offered programs that "indicate a lack of preparation, lack of substance, lack even the possibility of accomplishment."

"Consequently, I could understand that I can scarcely blame the party convention (last week) for not only not endorsing these programs, but I can also understand why they would avoid any mention of these programs which were to be my opponent's platform—at least until Nov. 6."

"However, in announcing each of these plans, he demonstrated his complete cooperation, or should I say subservience, to the majority leaders by saying he had cleared his proposals with Stan and Rog and that they had promised their wholehearted cooperation."

DiSalle referred to Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem of Athens and House Speaker Roger Cloud of Bellefontaine, both Republicans.

At another point DiSalle said two of Rhodes' three announced programs advocate "governmental interference with private enterprise and the use of public credit in order to promote this

Negro Awaits Next Move in Mississippi

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Negro James H. Meredith kept up his vigil of watchful waiting today as the Justice Department prepared another attempt to press a contempt citation against University of Mississippi officials.

U.S. Dist. Judge Sidney Mize Friday cleared the chancellor, dean and registrar of contempt charges that followed after Gov. Ross Barnett intervened and refused to allow Meredith, 29, to enroll.

Mize, who had turned down Meredith's petition for an admission order three times until he was told to grant it by an appeals court, ruled that the board of trustees—not the three defendants—held sole power to admit Meredith.

The 13 members of the State College Board—in effect, the board of trustees for all Mississippi institutions of higher learning—are scheduled to appear in New Orleans Monday on the same contempt charges.

Three judges of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals will hear the case. Former Gov. J. P. Coleman will defend some board members.

Although classes started Friday at Ole Miss, there were still two days of registration left—today and Monday. But plans of the Air Force veteran have not been disclosed. Nor were his whereabouts known.

3 Dems Slated To Vie for Mayor's Race

CLEVELAND (AP)—Three Democrats will vie for their party's nomination for mayor of Cleveland in a special primary election Oct. 2.

The Ohio Supreme Court cleared the way for the partisan primary in a unanimous ruling Friday in Columbus supporting the procedure set up by the Cuyahoga County Board of Elections.

Willard W. Brown was the sole Republican to file by Friday's 5 p.m. deadline, so he automatically becomes the GOP candidate.

A fourth Democrat, Michael E. Gallagher, brought in his petitions ahead of the deadline, but Board Clerk Ray C. Miller said the petitions lacked sufficient valid signatures.

The three Democrats in the race are Acting Mayor Ralph S. Locher, who moved up from law director when Anthony J. Celebrezze was tapped for President Kennedy's Cabinet; County Prosecutor John T. Corrigan and Ohio Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, who has the support of the regular party organization.

U. S. Sen. Frank J. Lausche, a former Cleveland mayor, has thrown his support behind Locher.

Sleeping Beauties' Mother Is Freed

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. Lillian Fratanotio has served 15 weeks in the Cuyahoga County workhouse and will not have to serve the remainder of the year's sentence handed her for illegally feeding drugs to two of her five children.

The petite mother was the central figure in Cleveland's "sleeping beauties" case two years ago. Her two little girls, Bernadette, now 5, and Venita, 7, posed a mystery for doctors for several months before it was discovered that barbiturates were responsible for their prolonged, comalike slumbers.

Juvenile court Judge Albert A. Woldman lifted the sentence Friday, restored custody of the girls to Mrs. Fratanotio, and held in abeyance a $500 fine and costs.

U.S., Soviet Accuse Other Of War Risks

U.N. Assembly Sees Head-on Clash on Explosive Cuban Issue

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union accused each other of risking war over Cuba in a head-on clash Friday night before the General Assembly.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko brought up the explosive Cuban issue in a 90-minute general policy speech delivered on the eve of a meeting with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who is arriving in New York for a week's stay.

Gromyko accused the United States of aggressive acts toward Fidel Castro's regime and said a U.S. attack on Cuba would mean war.

U.S. Chief Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson, replying immediately, said the Soviet Union is threatening peace by supplying military aid to Cuba.

"We are not taking and will not take offensive action in this hemisphere, neither will we permit aggression in this hemisphere," Stevenson said.

"The threat to peace in Cuba comes not from the United States but from the Soviet Union. The threat arises from the extraordinary and unnecessary flood of Soviet arms and military personnel pouring into Cuba."

Gromyko said President Kennedy's Sept. 13 news conference statement on Cuba meant "that the United States is at liberty to mount military action against Cuba and that it will itself decide when to deem it necessary to start an invasion."

Already, he said, the United States is practicing aggressive (Continued on Page 10)

Missile Firm, Union Extend Old Contract

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Marchants union and Lockheed Aircraft have agreed to extend their labor contract indefinitely, cutting off a weekend strike threat against the missile-space firm.

The government announced the agreement Friday, saying it provides that 56,000 workers at Lockheed's California plants will stay at the job until they receive a five-day notice of termination of the extension.

The agreement virtually eliminates the chance of a major strike in the immediate future in the nation's aerospace industry.

Two other firms threatened by strike—North American and General Dynamics' Convair Division—have agreed to settlement terms suggested by a special presidential board.

The terms included the union shop, under which all of a company's production workers would have to join the union if the workers approved by a two-thirds vote. Lockheed has strongly opposed the union shop.

Rhodes Says Ohio's 'Failure' Is Costly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Republican candidate for governor says Ohio's failure to keep peace with the national average economic increase costs an Ohio family of five $94 a month.

State Auditor James A. Rhodes said although the state's income was $23 billion in 1961, it would have been about $25 billion if Ohio's income had increased at the national average rate.

That "loss" of $2 billion, Rhodes claimed, comes to $94 a month for what he termed an average family of five. Rhodes also figured that the state treasury lost $55 million in tax revenue as a result.

"TANKERS AWAY" — This will probably be the theme song next week as the long journey to Linden, N.J. gets underway to deliver this tank to the backyard of Robin Harvan, 12-year-old recipient of the gift from Jack Clark, Williamsport, pictured on the tank.

Christmas Will Come Early If Local Tank Is Delivered

Christmas will come early this year for a 12-year-old boy in Linden, N. J., if all goes well next week in 30 mile-per-hour trip across Ohio, Pennsylvania and into the New Jersey city of about 40,000 people.

Jack Clark, owner of an auto wrecking yard at Williamsport, said today that plans were being made for driving a 30-ton government surplus tank under its own power to New Jersey "as a gift to 12-year-old Robin Harvan who, like himself, wants a real live tank."

Clark purchased the tank in 1954 from government surplus simply because "I have wanted one since I was a kid."

A Cleveland television station has taken charge of moving the tank across country. According to Clark, a man associated with the TV studio will drive the tank all the way. The trip will start next week, Clark said.

THE New Jersey lad was turned down when he requested a tank from President Kennedy last year. The twin-engined 500-horsepower tank has a maximum speed of 45 miles per hour. "I figure it ought to average at least 30 miles an hour on the highway," Clark said.

The 37-year-old Williamsport man wouldn't disclose how much the "toy" cost him, but when the government built it, about $109,000 went into it.

It's probably best the vehicle is being delivered before Christmas to the 12-year-old. After all, we couldn't expect Santa Claus' nine reindeer to carry a 30-ton tank!

Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatrick, reporting this Friday, said the agreements are aimed at curbing an unfavorable U.S. balance of military payments and providing more modern arms and a standardized logistics system for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Gilpatrick returned last weekend from a trip to Bonn, Paris and Rome. His tour was part of the Pentagon's drive to get Allies to buy more military equipment in the United States and to take over some military support jobs now handled by U.S. personnel in Europe.

Argentina's Feuding Factions Splitting Up, Switch Sides

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Loyalists of Argentina's feuding military factions turned topsy-turvy overnight. Rebels who had been fighting President Jose Maria Guido's government sent a tank column into battle in Buenos Aires at dawn today to keep him in power.

Machine gun fire rattled in exchange between the World War II Sherman tanks and troops of Gen. Juan Carlos Lario, erstwhile supporter of Guido who split with him and joined a navy move to oust the president and install a three-man military junta.

The clash came in Constitution Plaza, site of one of the capital's major railway terminals. Previous actions had taken a toll of six dead, of whom five were civilians, and at least 28 wounded.

Political maneuvering continued through the night as troops of both the rebels and so-called loyalists were deployed in the capital. Scattered clashes during the rebellion, now in its fifth day, have killed six persons, five of them civilians.

The navy suggested early today a cease-fire and that Guido be replaced by a junta made up of Navy Rear Adm. Carlos Sanchez Sunido, Army Lt. Gen. Arturo Ossorio Arana, and Air Force Commander Oscar Lentino.

Soon afterward the navy said Guido had offered his resignation to the Council of Admirals. But Guido's secretary denied he was quitting and a spokesman at the rebel stronghold of Campo de Mayo near Buenos Aires said the president had notified them he intends to remain at his post.

A PROJECT of Janie and Jonie Jenkins to obtain soil samples from the 50 states has reached national and perhaps international proportions.

The youngsters, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Jenkins, 666 E. Mound St., now have received samples from all but five states . . . Nevada, Connecticut, New Hampshire and both Dakotas.

National response to calls for aid have been magnificent, the twins happily tell one and all. . . Letters commending the girls on their project have poured in, along with the requested soil samples.

The ambitious youngsters started their soil collection program as part of the annual Kiwanis backed Science Fair which is held here each year. . . Local neighbors and friends in far reaches of the 50 states have answered their call.

One recent letter was from James Dunton, frequent Circleville visitor and husband of homemaker Dorothy Winifred Dunton.

Jim has been a main source in helping the Circleville Pumpkin Show obtain the entertaining visits of the U. S. Army Field Band and other famous Armed Forces units. . . He writes from his Falls Church, Va., home that he is anxious to help the Jenkins girls carry through with their project.

Contact with a Harvard classmate, Henry Clark, vice president of Alaska Steamship Co. and native Alaskan, produced two sterile samples from the new state's productive Matanuska Valley.

He also called the project to the attention of several New Englanders who may be in a position to produce samples from their states.

In case of any states unrepresented in the collection, Dunton suggested the twins write to the governors. . . He assured the state heads would be interested.

Another Alaskan sample was received from Yvonne Braswell, Dillingham, Alaska. . . This young lady said she was informed of the project by a pen-pal named Nadine (no last name was given) apparently from this area.

Miss Braswell has 117 pen-pals in such places as India, New Zealand, Rhode Island, Bermuda, St. Kitts Island, The Philippines, Jamaica and Nevada. . . She plans to write all of them and tell all about the soil collections.

This provides thought that the Jenkins twins' next project may turn into an international endeavor.

West Germany To Prevent Red Charters

Britain, Norway Next On List of Nations Under American Prod

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States appears to be making headway in its drive to get Allied cooperation in cutting down Communist shipping to Cuba.

The West German government has agreed to take steps to prevent its shipowners from putting German flag vessels under Soviet charter.

And there is hope that Britain, Norway and other North Atlantic Treaty Organization Allies whose ships have sailed for the Russians in the Cuban buildup will also cooperate.

Britain, Norway and West Germany are each believed to have a dozen ships engaged in the Communist effort to beef up the Red outpost in the Caribbean.

The United States—arguing that the Cuban situation is an extremely serious problem—has pressed its Allies to deny shipping to the Soviet bloc.

American officials say the Russians have been using their own ships to carry arms and military personnel to Cuba. The chartered vessels have brought in food and industrial equipment designed to bolster Prime Minister Fidel Castro's wheezing economy.

First word of the West German move came in a House speech Friday by Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla.

"I hope the action of the West German government will be influential." (Continued on Page 10)

Top Women Executives Get Lashing

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—When 34 top level women executives submit to mass psychoanalysis there's no telling what will happen.

That was the case this week at the University of Michigan. The 34 women executives, representing 19 states and the Virgin Islands, paid $500 each to attend a leadership seminar—the first for women.

What they got for their money was a cold, cruel look at themselves.

For five days the women raced through 12 hours of lectures and discussions daily and two hours of homework nightly, only to discover—in some cases—that they weren't executives at all.

They were berated by 10 speakers—all male—who exposed their weaknesses thus: "The woman executive is too emotional . . . She devotes too much time to home and family to become successful . . . She lets her sex interfere with her job."

The ladies persevered, for the most part. But there were times when they reared up, ready to fight. One, Genevieve Hazzard of Detroit, Campbell-Ewald Co.'s only woman account executive, objected strongly when Perrin Stryker, author of "The Men From The Boys," urged them to put aside their maternal instincts if they wanted to succeed.

Although unmarried, Miss Hazzard insisted that a woman could lead a balanced life—dividing herself between family and business—without harming either one.

The youngsters, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Jenkins, 666 E. Mound St., now have received samples from all but five states . . . Nevada, Connecticut, New Hampshire and both Dakotas. . . National response to calls for aid have been magnificent, the twins happily tell one and all. . . Letters commending the girls on their project have poured in, along with the requested soil samples. . .

The ambitious youngsters started their soil collection program as part of the annual Kiwanis backed Science Fair which is held here each year. . . Local neighbors and friends in far reaches of the 50 states have answered their call. . .

One recent letter was from James Dunton, frequent Circleville visitor and husband of homemaker Dorothy Winifred Dunton. . . Jim has been a main source in helping the Circleville Pumpkin Show obtain the entertaining visits of the U. S. Army Field Band and other famous Armed Forces units. . . He writes from his Falls Church, Va., home that he is anxious to help the Jenkins girls carry through with their project. . .

Contact with a Harvard classmate, Henry Clark, vice president of Alaska Steamship Co., and native Alaskan, produced two sterilized samples from the new state's productive Matanuska Valley. . .

He also called the project to the attention of several New Englanders who may be in a position to produce samples from their states. . .

In case of any states unrepresented in the collection, Dunton suggested the twins write to the governors. . . He assured the state heads would be interested. . .

Another Alaskan sample was received from Yvonne Braswell, Dillingham, Alaska. . . This young lady said she was informed of the project by a pen-pal named Nadine (no last name was given) apparently from this area. . .

Miss Braswell has 117 pen-pals in such places as India, New Zealand, Rhode Island, Bermuda, St. Kitts Island, The Philippines, Jamaica and Nevada. . . She plans to write all of them and tell all about the soil collections. . . This provides thought that the Jenkins twins' next project may turn into an international endeavor. . .

West Germany To Prevent Red Charters

Britain, Norway Next On List of Nations Under American Prod

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States appears to be making headway in its drive to get Allied cooperation in cutting down Communist shipping to Cuba.

The West German government has agreed to take steps to prevent its shipowners from putting German flag vessels under Soviet charter.

And there is hope that Britain, Norway and other North Atlantic Treaty Organization Allies whose ships have sailed for the Russians in the Cuban buildup will also cooperate.

Britain, Norway and West Germany are each believed to have a dozen ships engaged in the Communist effort to beef up the Red outpost in the Caribbean.

The United States—arguing that the Cuban situation is an extremely serious problem—has pressed its Allies to deny shipping to the Soviet bloc.

American officials say the Russians have been using their own ships to carry arms and military personnel to Cuba. The chartered vessels have brought in food and industrial equipment designed to bolster Prime Minister Fidel Castro's wheezing economy. First word of the West German move came in a House speech Friday by Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla. "I hope the action of the West German government will be impressive. (Continued on Page 10)

Top Women Executives Get Lashing

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—When 34 top level women executives submit to mass psychoanalysis there's no telling what will happen.

That was the case this week at the University of Michigan. The 34 women executives, representing 19 states and the Virgin Islands, paid $500 each to attend a leadership seminar—the first for women.

What they got for their money was a cold, cruel look at themselves.

For five days the women raced through 12 hours of lectures and discussions daily and two hours of homework nightly, only to discover—in some cases—that they weren't executives at all.

They were berated by 10 speakers—all male—who exposed their weaknesses thus: "The woman executive is too emotional. . . She devotes too much time to home and family to become successful. . . She lets her sex interfere with her job."

The ladies persevered, for the most part. But there were times when they reared up, ready to fight. One, Genevieve Hazzard of Detroit, Campbell-Ewald Co.'s only woman account executive, objected strongly when Perrin Stryker, author of "The Men From The Boys" urged them to put aside their maternal instincts if they wanted to succeed.

Although unmarried, Miss Hazzard insisted that a woman could lead a balanced life—dividing herself between family and business—without harming either one.

Harvest Losses Hard on Profits

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Many of each year's profits are left in the field due to poor picker or combine adjustment.

Farmers may check their combine loss in soybean harvest by measuring at random one square foot areas. For each 4-5 soybeans found in these areas they represent one bushel loss per acre.

In a well adjusted combine the cutterbar loss is usually smallest. The cutterbar loss can be determined by the number of unthreshed pods of soybeans underneath the combine. The cutterbar loss will also show as unthreshed pods, however, it is usually the smallest of the four losses regardless of the condition of the crop.

The rack loss can become excessive if the rack is over loaded, particularly under weedy conditions or with too fast a ground speed.

THE SHOE loss can also be caused by overloading, or over threshing. The wind may cause excessive shoe loss but this isn't as serious in soybeans as it is with wheat or oats.

The improper adjusted or used corn picker can leave a lot of money in the field also. Shelled corn loss can be determined by counting the number of kernels per square foot. 1.7 kernels per square foot is a bushel loss per acre.

For example, if we are checking the shelled corn loss in 40 inch rows, we would pick up all the kernels in a space 6 feet long and 40 inches wide. This would be an area of 21 square feet. If we found 140 kernels in this area the number of kernels per square foot is 6.8. The loss is 6.8 divided by 1.7 or 4 bushels per acre.

Ear loss can be measured in one-hundredth of an acre. If a corn is planted in 40 inch rows, one-hundredth of an acre would be 124 feet in one row. The ears found in this area could be weighed and multiplied by 100 for the total ears lost per acre.

During last years harvest fields were checked that showed as much as 20 bushels loss per acre. This is at least $20 per acre loss and would amount to $2,000 on 100 acres of corn. This is part of a farmers net profit.

Take a little more time, check for your losses and try to adjust your harvesting equipment to reduce it.

Fall Cleanup Will Reduce Plant Disease

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Fall is the time to clean up plant diseases of the home garden and orchard.

Most troublesome diseases survive the winter on infected dead leaves and plant debris. By cleaning up infected debris the home gardener can reduce the diseases that plague him season after season.

Clean-up may be accomplished in several ways. Cutting out and destroying all infected stems helps reduce black spots of rose, raspberry anthracnose and peony blight.

Anthracnose and leaf spot of shade trees and apple scab overwinter on dead leaves. Burning or composting them cuts down on the disease incidence next year. Spores are produced on these dead leaves, becoming sources of disease next spring.

CLEANING up grapes on the ground helps to reduce black rot of grapes. Mowing the patch and removing the infected leaves reduces strawberry leaf spot.

Fireblight cankers in apple and pear and black knot in plums should be removed. Trim these out with sterile tools while the trees are dormant. This cuts down on the source of disease next year.

Vegetables and flowers that are heavily diseased should be removed and burned. Plow under remaining crop refuse this fall. This material will decay and allow the overwintering structures of the disease - causing organism to come in contact with the organisms that hasten their breakdown.

Allow Hogs To Follow Corn Picker

This seems to have been an ideal year for the corn stalk rot fungi to attack corn, according to County Agent George Hamrick.

Hamrick said moisture within the plant offers a great source of strength to the plant in fighting diseases. The shortage of moisture this year reduced the plants resistance and the stalk rot fungi has been at work causing weak stalks and the corn falls over.

Many fields of corn are already going down bad, the agent explained. This will make it extremely difficult to do a good job of picking. Supposing the picker loss is 15 bushels per acre. This loss will produce 200 pounds of pork at a value of $36 per acre with $18 hogs.

"After the field has been covered by the picker, turn the hogs in and let them get what the picker couldn't", Hamrick pointed out.

Many corn field picker losses will amount to enough corn to finish one market hog per acre. With reduced corn yields, the gain made by hogging off picked fields will be the profit.

Maybe He'll Remember $7.50 Library Fine

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP)—Television repairman Robert Herald returned a book to the Mount Vernon Public library and paid a fine of almost $7.50.

Does your clothes closet serve as a museum or an antique shop? How many items of clothing in your closet have not been worn during the past year? How much valuable closet space is taken up by articles which are no longer useful or do not fit? Do you have to punch and pull to get a garment in and out of your clothes closet? Do you have to climb on a chair to get a hat, purse, or pair of shoes off the closet shelf?

If you can answer "No" to all of these questions you have adequate, neat and convenient clothing storage.

If your answers are "yes", you need to sit down and analyze your particular situation. A good starting place whether building or rearranging is with a list of clothing to be stored. Divide this list into items to be stored on hangers, those to be stored in drawers, and those which would fit on shelves, racks, or hooks.

Adequate and convenient clothing can reduce time and energy spent in dressing and caring for clothing. It can make housework easier and may improve dispositions of family members. It's easier to train children to put away their clothing if they have a place of their own which they can reach.

CLOTHING storage is needed in at least three places in our homes; near the front door for guest and family coats and hats, near the back door for work and play wraps and in each bedroom. A fourth and special storage space for out-of-season clothing is also desirable.

Correct dimensions are important if a closet is to be adequate and useful, but these do not assure convenience. Convenience comes from making the best use of all the available space.

The height of a rod should be six inches more than the longest garment, to allow for easier cleaning. If there are many short items you can use two rods, one above the other. This increases rod space when shirts, blouses, and skirts are stored on hangers.

Shoes, purses, scarves, ties and belts are easily accessible when stored in or on racks, or hooks. These may be placed on inside of hinged doors but cannot be attached to sliding or folding doors.

Racks for shoes may be fastened to the walls or door or sit on the floor under a high rod used for skirts, shirts, and blouses. If racks or hooks are attached to closed doors, space must be allowed inside the closet for these items when the doors are closed.

Open shelves may be used as a divider in a closet used by two people. If there is room, a tier of shelves 8" deep and 8" apart, built across one end of the closet is convenient for caps, mittens, scarves, and other small articles.

HOOKS may be desirable in a work and play closet near the back door. Make the hooks in two rows. One row 45 inches high can be reached by children and a second row 60 inches high will serve adults.

Ovary Transplant To Bring Illegitimate Child, Belief

LONDON (AP)—The Solicitors Journal—a British legal publication—said today that doctors have developed an operation whereby a barren woman can have children. But, it said, the nation's Medical Defense Union has given the opinion that any child born after such an operation would be illegitimate.

The operation involves grafting a healthy ovary—reproductive organ—into the body of a woman whose ovaries are sterile or have been removed. The healthy ovaries could be obtained from women who choose, for various reasons, to have them removed.

The magazine said a well-known British gynecologist almost performed the operation on a young, childless wife who begged for his help, but he said he first wanted the opinion of the Medical Defense Union.

The Medical Defense Union is an organization that insures doctors against legal actions resulting from the practice of their profession. It even defends them in court.

The Solicitors Journal said the medical union ruled: "Any child born after the operation would be illegitimate."

A spokesman for the Medical Defense Union said he could make no immediate comment.

The reasoning as to illegitimacy of the offspring made no distinction as to the marital status of the mother. It is based on a belief that such cases, like artificial insemination, are not normal or natural.

For 20-Cent Check

BALTIMORE (AP)—Saul Stern, 14 months, parlayed 20 cents into $1,425 this week without leaving his stroller.

Saul received 20 cents Sept. 15 as a dividend from his one share of corporation's common stock. His father, Robert, 21, mailed the 20-cent check with Saul's bankbook to a savings and loan association.

Saul's balance was $48.85. The bankbook was returned with the 20-cent deposit recorded—and a new balance of $1,425.35.

A call to the bank confirmed an accounting error. Saul's father is keeping the bankbook as a souvenir.

Does your clothes closet serve as a museum or an antique shop? How many items of clothing in your closet have not been worn during the past year? Do you have to climb on a chair to get a hat, purse, or pair of shoes off the closet shelf?

If you can answer "No" to all of these questions you have adequate, neat and convenient clothing storage.

If your answers are "yes", you need to sit down and analyze your particular situation. A good starting place whether building or rearranging is with a list of clothing to be stored. Divide this list into items to be stored in hangers, those to be stored in drawers, and those which would fit on shelves, racks, or hooks.

Adequate and convenient clothing can reduce time and energy spent in dressing and caring for clothing. It can make housework easier and may improve dispositions of family members. It's easier to train children to put away their clothing if they have a place of their own which they can reach.

CLOTHING storage is needed in at least three places in our homes; near the front door for guest and family coats and hats, near the back door for work and play wraps and in each bedroom. A fourth and special storage space for out-of-season clothing is also desirable.

Correct dimensions are important if a closet is to be adequate and useful, but these do not assure convenience. Convenience comes from making the best use of all the available space.

Open shelves may be used as a divider in a closet used by two people. If there is room, a tier of shelves 8" deep and 8" apart, built across one end of the closet is convenient for caps, mittens, scarves, and other small articles.

HOOKS may be desirable in a work and play closet near the back door. Make the hooks in two rows. One row 45 inches high can be reached by children and a second row 60 inches high will serve adults.

Drawers or sliding trays may be built into the clothes closet if space permits. These drawers are most convenient if not more than 5" deep. A sliding tray which moves from front to back or side to side and covers about one-half of the drawer space can be put into a deep drawer.

Upright dividers of plywood, masonite, or even heavy cardboard boxes or plastic trays may be used in addition to or in place of dividers.

To improve storage, closet accessories whether purchased or made at home should: 1. Be a space saver — not a space waster; 2. Make each item easier to see, reach, or grasp; 3. Fit the space where it is used; 4. Be sturdy, firm and durable; 5. Protect the garment or other item of apparel stored; 6. Fit the item stored; 7. Not crush, snag, or spoil the shape of stored articles; 8. Be easy to clean; 9. Not rust or warp; 10. Be easy to move or adjust; 11. Add to the attractiveness of the storage space.

4-H Club News

By EDWIN D. TAYLOR
County Extension Agent, 4-H

Two young 4-H'ers won expense paid trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago in November when they earned first place in the safety speaking contest at the 45th annual session of Ohio 4-H Club Congress. They were selected over 14 other speakers, each winner in their own districts.

The winners are Carma Dunbar, 17, of Wauseon, and Bruce Gross, 16, of Sugarcreek.

In her talk on auto safety, Miss Dunbar called attention to the importance of seat belts. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olin Dunbar and is studying American diplomacy and foreign affairs in Miami University.

Gross, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gross, spoke on safety precautions in using a power mower. He has been a 4-H club member six years.

Second place winners were Teena Long, 16, of Marion, and Joe Weininger, 18, of Sycamore. Records of these runner-up will be submitted for National Public Speaking Awards.

Miss Long, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Long, spoke on auto safety. Weininger is a student at Heidelberg College and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gier Weininger. He spoke on farm chemicals.

Also at the Club Congress, in a mock legislative session at the state Capital, 4-H delegates defeated by a wide margin a bill to amend the Ohio motor vehicle laws. The amendment would have set the age for obtaining a driver's license at 18 years, unless an applicant had successfully completed an approved driver education course.

JFK Replies To Lawsuit Of $450,000

LOS ANGELES (AP)—President Kennedy, in answer to a $450,000 damage suit naming him and others, says he did not directly participate in the leasing of a car that was involved in an accident during the 1960 Democratic convention here.

The President's written answers to a series of written questions were received Thursday by lawyers for four plaintiffs. A judge ruled earlier the President need not appear in court.

Suing are four Mississippi delegates to the convention—State Sen. Hugh Bailey; Circuit Judge Walter O'Barr Jr.; Mrs. Jimmie Lee Hills, wife of a political writer; and William Austin, a plantation owner.

Their complaint states they were injured July 12, 1960, when their car was struck by one driven by George S. Zarett, a volunteer campaign worker for Kennedy.

The President said he was aware that his brother, Robert F. Kennedy, now attorney general, leased a number of cars during the convention. He said the vehicles were made available to governors, senators, congressmen and mayors.

The trial is pending.

U.S. Rejects China Gripe about U2

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has rejected a protest by Communist China against a U2 reconnaissance plane flight over Chinese Communist territory.

The protest was made in a meeting Thursday of American and Chinese ambassadors at Warsaw, Poland. It was immediately rejected on the grounds that the aircraft was owned and operated by Nationalist China.

Communist China announced Sept. 9 that it had shot down a U2—the type of plane that rocketed into world fame in May 1960 when one was brought down over the Soviet Union in an incident that led to the collapse of the Big Four summit conference two weeks later.

The Ne Plus Ultra Sunday School Class held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening in the Parish House of the Methodist Church, with 21 members present. Devotions were by Mrs. Cecil Bowler.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Charles Miller. Reports were given, and new projects discussed. A birthday card was signed to be sent to Miss Mary Hyne.

During the social hour four poems were read by Miss Mary L. Harpster.

A reading was given by Miss Margaret Thomas followed by a Bible Quiz.

The committee composed of Mrs. Reece Siberell, Mrs. N.F. Bond, Mrs. Clifford Kelley, Mrs. Lyman Dresbach Jr. and Mrs. Ott Davis served refreshments of gingerbread, whipped cream, coffee and nuts.

William Deal, president of Ross County Farm Bureau, was a guest of the Farm Bureau Study Group No. 4 when it met at the home of Mrs. D. H. Dreisbach, Monday evening.

David Deal, the guest's son spoke on the week he spent at the Youth Conference at Ohio University. He expressed his thanks to the group for sponsoring him at the conference.

Mrs. Russell Bowsher, chairman, presided over the business meeting. Announcement was made of the Southeastern Women's Rally to be held at Summerset on Oct. 26. Prince's Polo Field Used by Yankee Flier

HIGH WYCOMBE, England (AP)—A U.S. airman, second class, admitted with a grin today that he was the pilot who landed a light plane on Prince Philip's polo field Wednesday.

He is Gordon Shaw of Pittsfield, Mass.

Shaw said he got lost while flying from his base at Brookley Field near here to Blackbushe and decided to land because he was afraid of being a menace to navigation.

"I found this green field," he said. "It looked like some sort of sports field just right to land on. I circled a couple of times and landed."

"I got out of the plane and then a truck came with two men in it. They looked at me as though I were some kind of nut, especially when I asked them where I was. 'They said 'Windsor.'"

"I walked back to the plane, found Windsor on the map, taxied to the end of the field and then took off."

The plane is owned by the American Aeroclub at Brookley.

"The first thing I knew, was when the president of the flying club, Sgt. Austin Smith, came up and asked me if I had landed at Windsor," he said.

He said Smith told him "You landed at Windsor Castle, on the Duke of Edinburgh's private polo field. They are quite perturbed about it."

The Maryland State House in Annapolis has been listed as a registered national historical monument, making it the only state capitol to have that distinction.

By the time Edmond Hoyle died in August 1769 at the age of 90, his "Treatise on Whist" had already seen 16 editions and a 17th was on the way.

JFK Trade Bill Tops Record

Campaigning Dems
Point to Little Else

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and his party can point to the trade expansion bill as landmark legislation, but otherwise the record of the 1962 Congress is disappointing to many Democrats.

This was the private view expressed to a newsman today by a number of Democrats working on the appeals they plan to make this fall to voters.

Several said frankly that they will be talking more about what Congress did last year than in the session now inching to a close.

While there was unanimity that the far-ranging trade bill will give this Congress a place in the history books, there even was dissatisfaction with the handling of this legislation.

Some members said the administration underestimated the basic support for the bill, particularly among leading business elements, and thus wasted too much ammunition on it.

"If they had just saved a little of that effort for the health care for the aged bill," said one senator.

The trade bill cleared the Senate 78-18 Wednesday and awaits virtually certain final approval in conference. The House passed the measure by a big vote in June.

The health care proposal was beaten in the Senate 52-48. Its sponsors figured a switch of one vote could have saved it because at least one Democratic senator who voted no had pledged to go the other way if his position were decisive.

The White House also devoted much of its effort in the 1962 session to Kennedy's big tax revision and succeeded in saving its most important feature.

This is the investment credit provision designed as a $1 billion incentive to American companies to modernize their plants.

As in the case of trade, many Democrats insist this bill has no broad political appeal and even is a liability in some respects.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., and other Democratic leaders insist the present session will wind up with a respectable record.

They point to measures signed into law—manpower retraining, expansion of the Peace Corps, the $900-million public works bill, and the legislation aimed at rehabilitation of persons on the public assistance rolls.

Lima Paper Paying Off Guild Claims

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Attorneys for Freedom Newspapers, Inc., and those for former employees of the Lima News said Friday checks are being mailed to settle claims of the former employees against the News.

The claims being settled, they said, are for former employees represented by the American Newspaper Guild. They were said to total $149,903, about 120 percent of the original claims because of accrued interest.

There was no immediate indication whether claims by members of craft unions against the News will be settled similarly.

The severance pay dispute started a few months after Freedom Newspapers bought the Lima News five years ago. The Guild claimed a lockout, but News officials said the guild members forfeited their jobs.

Lower courts held the News, under contracts negotiated by the previous management owed the former employees accrued severance pay and the Ohio Supreme Court refused to review the case.

Ohio Voter Registration Expected To Reach Record

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—More Ohioans are registering to vote this year than ever before.

Officials hope the trend stems from a mounting interest in government but they won't know for sure until Nov. 6 election ballots are counted.

Ohio registrations hit an all-time high of 3,594,211 for the 1960 presidential election.

But Secretary of State Ted W. Brown expects another record before next Wednesday's deadline for November election registrations.

When the March 24 deadline fell on registrations for the 1962 primary elections, they stood at 3,517,788 for a pre-primary record. Registrations resumed on May 19.

"Since only 76,424 additional registrations over the primary figures are needed to beat the 1960 presidential election registration," Brown said, "I predict we will set a new registration record again this fall."

About three-fourths of Ohio voters live in registration territory. Forty-seven of Ohio's 88 counties have registration—34 require it county-wide and 13 in portions of the county. All cities, with a population of 16,000 or more require registration.

To vote in non-registration areas, citizens must be at least 21 years old on election day, residents of the state one year and of their precinct for 40 days.

Brown pointed out that registration is permanent in other areas unless:

You have not voted at least once in the past two calendar years.

You have moved since you registered.

You have changed your name, as by marriage.

Both Republican and Democratic parties, as well as numerous organizations, are pushing drives to sign up potential voters.

The American Heritage Foundation again asked Brown this year to coordinate efforts of about 3,000 state, district and local groups in a non-partisan, register-vote campaign.

Registration also was stimulated by special elections last month in Akron and Cleveland.

Issues on which voters focused were a tax levy that met defeat in Cleveland and a successful one per cent income tax proposed in Akron.

Further voter interest has been created in Cleveland by a scheduled Oct. 2 primary election to pick party nominees for mayor in the November voting. Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze resigned before expiration of his term to become secretary of health, education and welfare in Washington.

A large number of bond issues, tax levies and special issues for November ballots have added interest to local elections and a proposal to clarify Sunday closing provisions of the Ohio Constitution is generating statewide attention.

A feature of this year's Ohio ballot will be the first appearance of names of all candidates for state office since four-year terms became the vogue. Election of a congressman-at-large also is on tap.

The office of auditor, mid way through a four-year term, was not on the 1958 ballot when other administrative posts were filled quadrennially for the first time. In 1960, the auditor was elected for only two years so that his term would coincide with four-year terms of the others.

The congressman-at-large race resulted from allocation of a 24th U.S. representative for Ohio and refusal of the legislature to provide a district for him, making statewide election necessary.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and his party can point to the trade expansion bill as landmark legislation, but otherwise the record of the 1962 Congress is disappointing to many Democrats.

This was the private view expressed to a newsman today by a number of Democrats working on the appeals they plan to make this fall to voters.

Several said frankly that they will be talking more about what Congress did last year than in the session now inching to a close.

While there was unanimity that the far-ranging trade bill will give this Congress a place in the history books, there even was dissatisfaction with the handling of this legislation.

Some members said the administration underestimated the basic support for the bill, particularly among leading business elements, and thus wasted too much ammunition on it.

"If they had just saved a little of that effort for the health care for the aged bill," said one senator.

The trade bill cleared the Senate 78-8 Wednesday and awaits virtually certain final approval in conference. The House passed the measure by a big vote in June.

The health care proposal was beaten in the Senate 52-48. Its sponsors figured a switch of one vote could have saved it because at least one Democratic senator who voted no had pledged to go the other way if his position were decisive.

The White House also devoted much of its effort in the 1962 session to Kennedy's big tax revision and succeeded in saving its most important feature.

This is the investment credit provision designed as a $1 billion incentive to American companies to modernize their plants.

As in the case of trade, many Democrats insist this bill has no broad political appeal and even is a liability in some respects.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., and other Democratic leaders insist the present session will wind up with a respectable record.

They point to measures signed into law—manpower retraining, expansion of the Peace Corps, the $900-million public works bill, and the legislation aimed at rehabilitation of persons on the public assistance rolls.

Lima Paper Paying Off Guild Claims

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Attorneys for Freedom Newspapers, Inc., and those for former employees of the Lima News said Friday checks are being mailed to settle claims of the former employees against the News.

The claims being settled, they said, are for former employees represented by the American Newspaper Guild. They were said to total $149,903, about 120 per cent of the original claims because of accrued interest.

There was no immediate indication whether claims by members of craft unions against the News will be settled similarly.

The severance pay dispute started a few months after Freedom Newspapers bought the Lima News five years ago. The Guild claimed a lockout, but News officials said the guild members forfeited their jobs.

Lower courts held the News, under contracts negotiated by the previous management owed the former employees accrued severance pay and the Ohio Supreme Court refused to review the case.

Ohio Voter Registration Expected To Reach Record

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—More Ohioans are registering to vote this year than ever before.

Officials hope the trend stems from a mounting interest in government but they won't know for sure until Nov. 6 election ballots are counted.

Ohio registrations hit an all-time high of 3,594,211 for the 1960 presidential election.

But Secretary of State Ted W. Brown expects another record before next Wednesday's deadline for November election registrations.

When the March 24 deadline fell on registrations for the 1962 primary elections, they stood at 3,517,788 for a pre-primary record. Registrations resumed on May 19.

"Since only 76,424 additional registrations over the primary figures are needed to beat the 1960 presidential election registration," Brown said, "I predict we will set a new registration record again this fall."

About three-fourths of Ohio voters live in registration territory. Forty-seven of Ohio's 88 counties have registration — 34 require it county-wide and 13 in portions of the county. All cities, with a population of 16,000 or more require registration.

To vote in non-registration areas, citizens must be at least 21 years old on election day, residents of the state one year and of their precinct for 40 days. Brown pointed out that registration is permanent in other areas unless:

You have not voted at least once in the past two calendar years.

You have moved since you registered.

You have changed your name, as by marriage.

Both Republican and Democratic parties, as well as numerous organizations, are pushing drives to sign up potential voters.

The American Heritage Foundation again asked Brown this year to coordinate efforts of about 3,000 state, district and local groups in a non-partisan, register-vote campaign.

Registration also was stimulated by special elections last month in Akron and Cleveland. Issues on which voters focused were a tax levy that met defeat in Cleveland and a successful one per cent income tax proposed in Akron.

Further voter interest has been created in Cleveland by a scheduled Oct. 2 primary election to pick party nominees for mayor in the November voting. Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze resigned before expiration of his term to become secretary of health, education and welfare in Washington.

A large number of bond issues, tax levies and special issues for November ballots have added interest to local elections and a proposal to clarify Sunday closing provisions of the Ohio Constitution is generating statewide attention.

A feature of this year's Ohio ballot will be the first appearance of names of all candidates for state office since four-year terms became the vogue. Election of a congressman-at-large also is on tap.

The office of auditor, mid way through a four-year term, was not on the 1958 ballot when other administrative posts were filled quadrennially for the first time. In 1960, the auditor was elected for only two years so that his term would coincide with four-year terms of the others.

The congressman-at-large race resulted from allocation of a 24th U.S. representative for Ohio and refusal of the legislature to provide a district for him, making statewide election necessary.

Where Are Family Doctors?

Is the "family doctor" — like the house call by a physician — becoming a thing of the past in the U. S.? In big cities particularly the list of general practitioners is shrinking.

Several reasons are cited for the decline in number of general practitioners. One is the tendency of graduating medical students to go into specialties.

Another reason is that in many cities hospital staffs are being closed to general practitioners. Hospital administrators in many cities demand certificates from such groups as the American Board of Surgery before allowing a doctor to operate.

A third reason cited is the inclination of family doctors to migrate to smaller communities and the specialists to locate in large cities. Thus the doctor who wants to live in a metropolitan area normally looks for a specialty.

Despite general practitioners' dismay at the decline in their ranks and attempts to gain status through a certificate system from their own Academy, many doctors contend the patient is better served by treatment by a specialist.

But the disappearance of the family doctor — or his relegation to the small town — will mark the passing of a beneficial personal relationship between physician and patient that cannot be replaced by a whole covey of experts.

Christmas Tree Cutting Starts

Fall is just beginning, and a few stragglers are just starting on their vacations, for various reasons. Some must take vacations when convenient, and some find it easier to come by the necessary funds in September than in July or August.

But lest anyone be under the delusion that the good old year of 1962 is not speeding merrily on its way, a news note should receive wider circulation. In the woods of the Far North, this item says, they are now cutting Christmas trees.

White Bucket On Pole Is Blast Sensor

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—While you're driving, keep your eye peeled for a white bucket perched atop a utility pole.

If you spot one, chances are it's a nuclear bomb explosion detector, the existence of which was disclosed in news conference at the Air Force Association convention.

A network of these detectors has been installed in 99 critical target areas of the United States. There are three detectors, located 11 miles from predicted prime targets, in every major military and civilian center.

Not all detectors are on utility poles, but an Air Force spokesman said that's a good place to put them because they are made and serviced by Western Union.

The Air Force said the network of blast sensors will give almost instant notice of attack in several military command posts, including the Pentagon.

Thus information, the Air Force said, will help authorities make "decisions that can spell the difference between survival and annihilation."

Each detector is housed in a white aluminum cylinder about 12 inches high and 9 inches in diameter. On top of the cylinder are photo cells sensitive only to a type of light peculiar to nuclear detonation.

The Air Force said the device cannot be triggered falsely by lightning, fire or other sources of light.

While textiles are still Japan's most important export, they represent a progressively smaller share of foreign sales each year.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A FUNNY THING happened in a California college recently. The professor who was conducting a course in religion suddenly sprang class: an examination for which not one student was prepared.

As was his custom, the professor asked for a volunteer to lead the class in prayer. One ingenious student jumped to his feet and proceeded to pray aloud for the entire hour, without giving the professor the ghost of a chance to interrupt. When the bell sounded at the end of the hour, he breathed a fervent "Amen," and the enraptured students—unexamined—tripped lightly out of the classroom.

"Be sure you know what you're doing," a father cautioned his son, who had just announced that he was going to get married. "You will have not only another mouth to feed, but a great big one to listen to."

Dorothy Parker ended one of her scathing book reviews with a characteristic flourish. "I suppose," she conceded, "that this is another of those young writers who is worth watching. Not reading; just watching."

Saddest election day story of all is told by Herb Shriner. They closed the saloon all day in his home town to comply with state law—and every voter was locked in.

What do you know about ringworm of the scalp?

1. Several different worms cause it. T—F—

2. It causes baldness. T—F—

3. It's found by planting a hair in the laboratory. T—F—

4. Special pills cure it. T—F—

5. It's more common in boys. T—F—

1. False. Fungus, not worms, causes ringworm of the scalp. The fungus attacks scalp, hair and roots. Broken, brittle white hairs appear on gray scaly patches.

Red-hot, tender scalp may grow into mushy swelling. Oily crusts may mat hairs into clumps.

2. True. Infected hairs fall out or are pulled out painlessly. Permanent baldness results only when ordinary germs jump on the ringworm bandwagon and destroy hair roots.

3. True. Some ringworm types glow under a special black laboratory light.

Microscopic examination can find other kinds crowded in infected hairs like clusters of tiny fish eggs.

When an infected hair is planted in special chemicals, the fungus soon takes root and grows.

4. True. Clip hair short. Shampoo with soap and water daily. Pull out loose hairs. Apply a fungus-killing ointment — like 1/4 to 1/2 strength Whitfield's ointment.

When you gulp down griseofulvin tablets — prescription only! — the medicine attacks ringworm from the inside. You may need only one dose or several over a four-to-six-week period.

5. True. Perhaps ringworm is passed on by direct contact when boys fight, wrestle and play football or basketball. Kittens and puppies can spread it, too.

Grown dogs, cats and people are usually immune.

Little heads rub against movie seats and barber chairs. A scalp troubled with ringworm should be covered with linen. Mom can make Dutch caps for Sis or linen baseball hats for Junior.

A wholesome diet, chock-full of vitamins and minerals, and plenty of rest are important.

When resistance drops, a few patches of ringworm may turn into a 1,000 - ring circus!

Congressional System Gaining

By George Sokolsky

Everywhere one hears these days about the power of the President, the authority of the President, the President's program, etc. True, the President is the chief executive of the nation who functions through a vast and overpowering bureaucracy.

Originally, all bureaus and agencies were organized within departments at the head of which was a member of the President's Cabinet. This was an orderly system of government. The functions of the President became more numerous because Congress delegated new authorities and responsibilities to the President and created many independent agencies. Thus, it was Congress which increased Presidential functions and responsibilities.

The actual center of power, according to the Constitution, is not vested in the President but in Congress. In fact, the Constitution places the legislative authority first. Congress can impeach a President cannot dismiss a member of Congress. True, a President may veto a bill passed by Congress, but the Congress may pass it over the President's head by a two-thirds vote of those present. The President may, in the conduct of foreign policy, reach agreements with foreign nations but if they involve expenditures, the agreements are worthless unless the expenditures are sanctioned by Congress.

However, the business of government has grown too large and too complex for Congress to handle all its aspects. Therefore, numerous activities have been referred to agencies and bureaus and some of these arms of government have regulatory authorities which have the potency of an act of Congress. The ICC, FCC, FTC, SEC, etc., etc., are such regulatory agencies which possess enormous powers. Most of their work is unknown or buried in unreadable reports.

There is much criticism of these agencies. Nevertheless, what nonsense it is for Congress to go through the effort, spending time and thought, "to promote the production of oysters by propagation of disease resistant strains and for other purposes." This is Public Law 87-580 which passed the House of Representatives and the Senate and was signed by the President on August 9, 1962.

I do not object to purifying the strain of the oyster but it would seem to me that such matters might be routine with the Secretary of Agriculture. But what has happened is that Congress decided:

"... The Secretary of the Interior is authorized with respect to those States where he finds that excessive mortality of oysters presents an immediate and substantial threat to the economic stability of the oyster industry in such area or region, to acquire oyster brood stock that he believes possesses resistance to the causative agent of such excessive mortality."

Whereupon the law authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to do various and sundry things about the oyster, provided he does not spend more than $100,000 doing it.

Not many members of the Congress can possibly know anything about how to raise these critters. I know two salient facts about oysters: 1. They are good to eat in various forms; 2. Pearls are found in them. My preference for oysters is raw with mignonette sauce and white wine. However, neither the Secretary of the Interior nor the Secretary of Agriculture can do anything about that — all is forbidden joy!

I cite this legislation to indicate how intricate and even wasteful of time and energy our system of government has become. We cannot govern too wisely because decisions are slowed up by the complexities of control. The controls are essential if we are to continue our theory of government in which the people govern themselves not directly but through representatives. The members of Congress are not expected to be the wisest, the most expert, the most able men in the community from which they come. They are expected to be representative. For instance, Senator Eastland would not be representative of New York State but he is representative of Mississippi.

Senator Fulbright, who represents Arkansas in the Senate which, according to the Constitution is all that he needs to do, also may be regarded as representing the Senate, as do Senator Douglas, Humphrey, McCarthy and Mansfield, the intellectuals of the country, the university professors, the experts who usually are found in bureaus rather than in the Senate. The disciplined minds that appear in Congress these days give encouragement to the idea that our nation is maturing and that the Congressional system is gaining in strength despite the expansion of the power of the Executive.

The annual Christmas tree harvest in Canada starts three months before the event, and by Oct. 1 is in full swing. To cut millions of trees is a gigantic task. To transport them from the woods to dealers thousands of miles away requires a great deal of time. And, anyway, it would be impossible to recruit enough tree cutters to get the job done in a few weeks.

It's a startling thought, though, that somebody is thinking of Christmas trees.

Cuban Missile Base Pondered

Possible Menace Seen To U.S. Navy Ships

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new missile site on Cuba's northeast coast could menace important U.S. Navy shipping lanes.

U.S. officials have reported that Soviet technicians have set up a missile site near the town of Banes. They likened it to Soviet coastal defense installations and said it is believed designed for antishipping missiles.

Such missiles would be in the surface-to-surface class.

Officials spoke of a probable range of 20 to 35 miles for the missiles. This would not be enough to reach Guantanamo, the U.S. naval base about 60 miles away on the other side of the island.

However, it would take missiles of only slightly more power to threaten that base and the U.S. warships that anchor in its harbor.

Much U.S. Navy traffic passes along Cuba's north coast on routes leading to Puerto Rico where the Navy and Marines maintain important bases.

This traffic stays well outside the three-mile limit and could go further out in the Caribbean, if necessary.

Official pinpointing of the new missile site near Banes tended to support Cuban underground reports of a possible move by the Castro government to build a naval base near Banes, which is on a big bay much like Guantanamo's.

Sources in contact with the Cuban underground told a newsman several days ago the Castro government has been removing families from a region near Banes.

It would be logical to emplace missiles to defend a naval base from possible attack.

The Cubans have been getting modern torpedo boats — armed with missiles estimated to have a range of up to 17 miles — from the Soviets.

Seven out of 10 Americans in 1960 were living in the state in which they were born.

Pickaway County Tax Collections Show Increase

Prepaid sales tax receipts and motor vehicle tax collection in Pickaway County for the fiscal year beginning July 1 are ahead of collections for a similar period last year, according to a report from the office of Joseph T. Ferguson, treasurer of the state of Ohio.

Sales tax receipts for the period ending September 15 are $56,878.74 as compared to $47,222.60 during the same period in 1961.

Motor vehicle collections were $12,343.73 more than last year. The total reported by the state treasurer was $41,672.91.

The county collections reflect a general state wide trend. Only three of Ohio's 88 counties listed a decrease in sales tax revenue. They were Madison, down $1,571.75, Medina, down $5,024.40 and Richland down $5,869.74.

None of the counties showed a decrease in motor vehicles sales tax receipts.

SISTERS ESCAPE FROM LOCKED HOME—Pasadena, Calif., sisters Bonnie (left), 16, and Karen Austin, 15, tell police how their father, Eugene Austin, 38, a consulting engineer, kept them locked in their Mission Hill home because he seemed distrustful of them. Girls escaped by smashing a window.

EN ROUTE TO OUTER SPACE—The giant Saturn C-1, well housed, passes under a Mississippi River bridge at Memphis, Tenn., en route from Huntsville, Ala., to Cape Canaveral, Fla. This is the only way it can be transported there without taking it apart. The Saturn is scheduled to arrive at the Cape Canaveral missile complex Sept. 18.

Garbage Men Put on Airs, Go to School

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — New Jersey's garbage men are putting on airs but garbage by any other name still smells the same.

About 45 garbage contractors are taking a 10-week course at the Rutgers University extension division with the high-sounding title of "Solid Waste Collection and Disposal."

Guest lecturers—Alfred J. Lippman of the Municipal Contractors Association and John Zemlansky of the State Health Department—said the garbage industry's image in the public eye should be changed.

"People look down their noses at the garbage industry," Lippman said. "They think it's a dirty business."

Zemlansky said he hoped the contractor-students might go on to an advanced course, "which, perhaps, could result in giving you certificates as 'Certified Sanitarians.'"

Zemlansky deplored the word "dump" and said it should be changed.

"For instance," he said, "instead of calling a dump a dump we could refer to it as 'Land Improvement Materials, Inorganic and Organic—or Limio.'"

Barge Loaded With Chlorine To Be Lifted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Public Health Service today disclosed Army plans for salvaging a sunken barge in the Mississippi River near Natche, Miss., carrying more than 1,000 tons of potentially lethal chlorine gas—and declared mass evacuation of people in the area or readiness for it might be advisable as a precautionary measure. The service indicated, though, that any such measures would be a matter for local authorities.

A spokesman for the service's division of air pollution said that if the gas should escape through any accident in the planned salvage operation it could kill up to 40,000 people if the wind was blowing in the right direction.

The barge sank during March 1961 at a point near Natche. While its approximate location has been known all along by the Coast Guard, its exact location was not pinpointed until last week.

The service spokesman said the Army Corps of Engineers feels that any salvage attempt must be made before Dec. 1 before high waters might make it impossible.

The spokesman said the barge, some 60 feet under water at its lowest point, does not constitute a hazard to navigation and that the chlorine presumably could remain under water indefinitely without hazard. He offered no comments on why the Army deems it necessary to raise the barge.

Andy Williams Plans To Rely On Hometown Folks on TV

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Fred Allen's Alley and Steve Allen's friends are about to get a set of successors in singer Andy Williams' hometown folks from Wall Lake, Iowa.

The group will make its appearance on the debut of Williams' hour-long weekly variety show Sept. 27 on NBC.

"I left Hall Lake when I was 8," Andy said at rehearsals. "So we're taking a little license, pretending I went through high school there."

"But what we're trying to do is create characters you could find anywhere."

"There are no small town people anymore. Not with television and the movies and everything else these days. You can hardly even call an inside joke on television anymore, unless it's about something technical."

"These won't be people who really lived in my hometown, but they'll have appeal to everyone—we hope."

"One of the characters will be Wrong Way Willie. Billy McLean is playing him. Willie's the kind of guy who when something's happening in this direction, he's always pointing over there."

"Then we're having Jimmy Gaines play Mr. Bridges, a little boy who's formal like a lot of little kids are. In the first show, I go up and introduce myself and say, 'My name's Andy Williams, but you can call me, Andy.' And he says, 'You can call me Mr. Bridges.'"

"Sherry Alberoni will play Nancy Johnson, who's supposed to be the 14-year-old younger sister of a girl I went out with in Wall Lake."

"And we'll have three old men. Paul Burns and Sam Flint will play two of them and one of our guest stars will play the third. George Gobel is the third one on our opening show."

"We hope we get laughs, but this isn't something we expect to catch on right away. It takes time to build up characters."

Andy will get considerable help in that department from Mort Green, the show's head writer, who broke in on the old Fred Allen Show and helped write the Steve Allen and Perry Como shows.

"It took a long time to build up the characters even on the Fred Allen Show," Green recalled. "People don't realize it, but it wasn't always the way it became later when you could knock on a door and say, 'Mrs. Nussbaum' and she'd answer, 'So who are you expecting, maybe.' And Titus Moody and Senator Claghorn. They became classics later, but it took time."

"Even on the Steve Allen Show. Most of the actors who played the characters—Don Knott, Tom Poston, the other guys—they were all unknowns. But after a few months people would laugh before they even opened their mouths. I only hope we do as well."

Gift Horse Is Refused By Doctor

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Being a diagnosis-minded physician, Dr. Theodore Stonehill just naturally would look a gift horse in the mouth.

He didn't like what he saw. So he's suing the Mail Pouch Tobacco Co. of Wheeling, W. Va., for $114,450 damages.

He says a horse he won in a contest sponsored by the firm was a candidate for the glue factory, not the Kentucky Derby.

In a suit filed in federal court earlier this week, the doctor charged the company with fraud, breach of warranty and failure of consideration.

The doctor said he traveled to Churchill Downs at Louisville, Ky., to pick up his prize horse and, his complaint states, found the colt in bad physical condition. Stonehill refused to accept the animal and returned home.

without hazard. He offered no comments on why the Army deems it necessary to raise the barge.

Dear Abby: by Abigail Van Buren

Marry that Farmer, Girl!

DEAR ABBY: A man wants to marry me and I am undecided. I like him very much but I don't love him. I was married for six years to a man I loved but didn't like. He took off and left me with four children and $2,000 in debts. I divorced him. The man who wants to marry me is 40. He is a prosperous farmer and the kindest man I've ever known. He is willing to be a good father to my children and pay off my debts. I am only 29. Is this too young to live without love?

UNDECIDED
DEAR UNDECIDED: Instead of the word "like"—substitute "respect and admire." And for "love" "physically attracted to." Your chances for happiness, in my opinion, are better with a man you respect and admire. You'd be surprised how easy it is to love a man who is good to you. Marry the farmer and everything will come up roses.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell my wife how foolish she is to put her name and address on her key chain? I tried to tell her that if she lost her house keys, whoever found them would know right where to go to rob her. She thinks some honest soul will return them to her just because her name and address are on it. Or am I wrong in wanting to take no chances?

ED
DEAR ED: You're right—although the majority of finders are not keepers. It pays to take no chances.

DEAR ABBY: I am 26 and my husband is 27. We have been married for five years and here is my problem. I love to dance but my husband doesn't. He knows how to dance and he is a good dancer, but he doesn't like to dance. I knew this before we were married but I thought he would change. I want to dance, but it takes two to tango. How can I get him to dance?

LOVES TO DANCE
DEAR LOVES: If dancing is such an important part of your life, you should have married a tango dancer. You could probably get your husband on his feet by nagging, but why bother if he doesn't enjoy it? Get off his back

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CAN'T GO HOME": Send me your name and address and I will send out a list of homes for unwed mother in your area at once. Yes, some of them are free, and you will be cared for confidentially.

Unload your problem on Abby. For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

BOULEVARD BEAUTIES — This waltz gown of sheer over tricort has handcut roses applique on the bodice and these St. Tropez pajamas are delightfully comfortable.

Feminine New Sleepwear

By SUSAN BARDEN

An aura of frilly femininity has entered the bouboir this season and this look seems to have replaced tailored lounge and sleepwear for the summer months.

Besides their romantic mood, the styles are also very practical for warm nights because they are made of the sheerest fabrics that are available.

Designed with low-cut necklines and without sleeves, these dream fashions are delightfully cool and comfortable.

The colors are delightfully refreshing and include soft shades of blue, lime, apricot and pink as well as the always popular white and egg shell.

For ladies who prefer pajamas for the year round there are new versions that are both dainty and frivolous.

Some are trimmed with flowers or decorated ribbons; others go for contrasting satin touches, and ruffles are seen on many both with and without bare midriffs.

Miss America's Mother Said Power behind Throne

NEW YORK (AP) — The card that came with the roses for Beverly Mayer read: "To the woman who's really behind the throne. Love and kisses." Six names followed.

Tickled by the floral tribute, the mother of the new Miss America, Jacquelyn Jeanne Mayer, interpreted the signatures. There were Beth and Jim, the two Mayer youngsters back home in Sandusky, Ohio; Zookie (Carol Zook of Wichita, Kan.), Jacquelyn's roommate at Northwestern; Dindy, an aunt; Vickie, the family dog, and Margaret Luedtke, a friend.

The roses brightened the hotel room of Mrs. Mayer and her husband, Jack, spending a week here to recuperate from the Atlantic City pageant. But their daughter, installed in a hotel suite across town, is already caught up in the whirl of activities that go with being the nation's beauty queen. Her father commented wryly: "We see Jackie every day—for a short time, but we see her."

They don't worry about her, though.

"All our four children are pretty self-sufficient," said Mayer. "They all started quite young with dancing lessons; the girls tap and ballet, the boys tap and acrobatics. They've always taken part in school functions. They've never been bashful. We haven't any shy violets in our family."

But the Mayers shy away from dispensing advice to other parents on child-rearing.

"We're not experts," said Mrs. Mayer with a laugh.

Her husband added: "We can't give advice because we haven't had any problems to cope with. If they'd been problem children it might be different."

Said Mrs. Mayer:

"We had one standing rule: The children had to go to Sunday School. We're Presbyterians, but I'm music director at the United Church of Christ and the kids come over there after Sunday School for choir and church. The kids have always been active in church. You know how it is in a small town (Sandusky's population is 35,000), you're either very active or not at all."

Her husband said he was reared in the Jewish faith, but he isn't particularly religious. "He has a deep faith of his own," said Mrs.

Mayer. "He attends the big things at my church, at Easter and Christmas, so I reverse the compliment and sing high holidays at the temple."

"I'm such a strong Presbyterian I'm rather fatalistic," she went on. "I kept telling Jackie in Atlantic City it was already decided and there was no point in fretting."

Jackie isn't necessarily the beauty of the family. "All the children are nice looking," said their mother. "We don't tell them, but they are."

If heredity has anything to do with it, the good looks are understandable. The Mayers are a handsome couple, with gray hair, hazel eyes and a pretty, youthful face, while her husband is tall, lean and humorous. She teaches seventh grade music, and he heads a manufacturing company with a general production machine shop.

This year Mayer is chairman of the local American Field Service Exchange Student Committee. In 1959, Jackie was the first in her high school to be selected in the program, and she spent her senior year with a doctor's family at Kapfenberg, Austria. They're still great friends, and the Austrians immediately cabled congratulations on her Miss America victory.

"I feel it was this experience that really developed Jackie," said her father.

They're equally proud of the other children. The older boy, Lynn, 22, is studying in Phoenix at the American Institute of Foreign Trade, after graduating from Hobart College last term. Jim, 16, in his first year of football made the first string. And Beth, 18, is a dark-haired beauty with a fine voice.

"Jackie says 'Come on, Beth, and enter the next Miss America contest so I can crown you.' But Beth wants her education first," Mrs. Mayer said approvingly.

Dear Abby: by Abigail Van Buren

Marry that Farmer, Girl!

DEAR ABBY: A man wants to marry me and I am undecided. I like him very much but I don't love him. I was married for six years to a man I loved but didn't like. He took off and left me with four children and $2,000 in debts. I divorced him. The man who wants to marry me is 40. He is a prosperous farmer and the kindest man I've ever known. He is willing to be a good father to my children and pay off my debts. I am only 29. Is this too young to live without love?

UNDECIDED: Instead of the word "like"—substitute "respect and admire." And for "love" "physically attracted to." Your chances for happiness, in my opinion, are better with a man you respect and admire. You'd be surprised how easy it is to love a man who is good to you. Marry the farmer and everything will come up roses.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell my wife how foolish she is to put her name and address on her key chain? I tried to tell her that if she lost her house keys, whoever found them would know right where to go to rob her. She thinks some honest soul will return them to her just because her name and address are on it. Or am I wrong in wanting to take no chances?

ED: You're right—although the majority of finders are not keepers. It pays to take no chances.

DEAR ABBY: I am 26 and my husband is 27. We have been married for five years and here is my problem. I love to dance but my husband doesn't. He knows how to dance and he is a good dancer, but he doesn't like to dance. I knew this before we were married but I thought he would change. I want to dance, but it takes two to tango. How can I get him to dance?

LOVES TO DANCE: If dancing is such an important part of your life, you should have married a tango dancer. You could probably get your husband on his feet by nagging, but why bother if he doesn't enjoy it? Get off his back

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CAN'T GO HOME": Send me your name and address and I will send out a list of homes for unwed mother in your area at once. Yes, some of them are free, and you will be cared for confidentially.

Unload your problem on Abby. For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

BOUDOIR BEAUTIES — This waltz gown of sheer over tricort has handcut roses applied on the bodice and these St. Tropez pajamas are delightfully comfortable.

Feminine New Sleepwear

By SUSAN BARDEN

An aura of frilly femininity has entered the boudoir this season and this look seems to have replaced tailored lounge and sleepwear for the summer months.

Besides their romantic mood, the styles are also very practical for warm nights because they are made of the sheerest fabrics that are available.

Designed with low-cut necklines and without sleeves, these dream fashions are delightfully cool and comfortable.

The colors are delightfully refreshing and include soft shades of blue, lime, apricot and pink as well as the always popular white and egg shell.

For ladies who prefer pajamas for the year round there are new versions that are both dainty and frivolous.

Some are trimmed with flowers or decorated ribbons; others go in for contrasting satin touches, and ruffles are seen on many both with and without bare midriffs.

Tigermen Crush Reynoldsburg, 33-6, for Third Victory

FLYING TIGER — Garold Dade, Circleville's leading groundgainer and scorer, flies over the goal line for the final touchdown at Reynoldsburg last night to give the Roundtowners a 33-6 win. Dade gained 142 yards and scored three touchdowns.

Dade Paces CHS Onslaught

By STEVE JONES

The Circleville Tigermen powered their way to a 33-6 win at Reynoldsburg last night — a victory that was highlighted by powerful running by the Circleville backfield, outstanding team play and penalties galore against the Tigers.

Circleville was called for 12 rule infractions by the officials. They were set back a total of 105 yards and the Reynoldsburg captain refused one off-side penalty.

	C	R
First downs rushing	11	8
First downs passing	1	0
First downs by Penalties	0	0
Total first downs	12	8
Net yards rushing	353	128
Net yards passing	24	36
Passes attempted	6	10
Passes completed	1	2
Penalty yards	105	15
Fumbles	6	5
Fumbles Lost	2	2
Punts	2(29)	3(29.6)

In the first half alone, the Tigermen had one touchdown run nullified — a beautiful pass play from quarterback Dave Hannahs to fleet Garold Dade for 46 yards — and gave up 80 yards via penalties.

Reynoldsburg was penalized once — 15 yards for clipping.

CARL BENHASE, Tiger coach, said after the game that he was disappointed with the officiating. He said he saw only one clipping infraction during the game. The Tigers were set back 60 yards on four clipping penalties.

For his squad, the Circleville mentor had nothing but praise. "It was strictly a team victory, and every boy on the squad played good football," Benhase said.

Reynoldsburg won the toss and elected to receive. Duke Fyffe kicked to the Reynoldsburg 17 and Jim Martin returned the ball to the Raiders' 25. On the first play from scrimmage, Ralph Hughes, a 201-pound junior fullback for the Franklin County gridders blasted up the middle for 15 yards, but on the next three plays the Raiders were unable to move the ball. They were forced to punt on the fourth down with 10 yards to go.

Dade gathered in the punt on 25 and danced and squirmed up the field to the losers' 38 before he was dropped.

On two plays Fyffe picked up 12 yards and a first down on the Reynoldsburg 26. Another plunge by the Tiger fullback picked up three more and then the Tigers were hit for the first of their penalties — five yards for offside. On the next play they were called for illegal procedure and the ball was moved back to the 33, making it second and 17 to go for the first down.

An off tackle slant by Dade, a plunge by Fyffe and a keeper by Hannahs picked up only nine yards, eight shy of the first down and Reynoldsburg was again in possession of the ball.

Three plays netted the Raiders a minus four yardage and they were again forced to punt, this time deep in their own territory.

MOORE took the punt on the Circleville 40, but a clipping penalty moved the ball back to the 26 where it was first and ten. Dade moved the ball nine yards to the 35 but Hannahs, unable to spot a receiver on a pass play, was dropped for a loss of four. An attempted pass from Hannahs to Dade was incomplete and it was the Tigers' turn to punt.

The Reynoldsburg receiver fumbled the ball and Ray Taylor recovered on hosts' 41. Two plays moved the ball to the 36, but the Tigers were called for slipping again and the line of scrimmage was moved to the Reynoldsburg 49.

The next Circleville offensive move was a double reverse, with Dade carrying the ball. The play completely fooled the Raider defense for an instant, giving the Roundtowners flash all the running room he needed to score the first touchdown of the game. Ray (The Toe) Taylor booted the extra point. Fyffe kicked off to the Reynoldsburg 26 and it was returned to the 35, but the Raiders were again unable to get their offense moving. Tom Copland recovered a Reynoldsburg fumble on the Circleville 38.

It was during this touchdown drive that followed that the Hannahs-to-Dade pass was called back. The Tigers moved the ball from their own 44 for the touchdown, with Fyffe providing most of the yardage on runs of 12 and 24 yards.

Moore bulled over from the one-yard line, carrying a host of Reynoldsburg defenders into the end zone for the touchdown. Hannahs fumbled the ball going for the two conversion points.

THE Reynoldsburg Raiders fumbled on the second play following the kickoff and big Clesson Thomas recovered in the 21 yard line. Fyffe and Moore combined to gain the necessary yardage for a touchdown in three plays, with Fyffe going over from nine yards out. Moore added two points giving Circleville a 21-0 lead.

Reynoldsburg was forced to punt on a fourth and six situation on their own 45, and it was then they reaped the lone break of the game they were able to capitalize on.

Dade fumbled the punt on the Tiger 26 and the hosts recovered. Reynoldsburg's first play lost three yards but Tim Pfeister caught Bob Nease's pass in the end zone for the lone score a minute later.

With time running out in the first half the Tigers tried for a first down in a fourth and one situation. They didn't pick up the necessary yardage.

Reynoldsburg, trying desperately for another scoring play in the first half, fired a pass deep into Circleville territory that was intercepted by Dade. The fleet halfback returned it to the midfield stripe where he was nailed as the half ended.

In the second half the Tiger defense turned in an excellent job of throttling the Raider offensive punch, limiting them to seven first downs and 131 yards. Thirty-four of those yards came on the next to last play of the game after Benhase had pulled his first team out to give them a deserved rest.

CIRCLEVILLE, on the other hand, gained 184 yards collected eight first downs and scored two touchdowns.

The first touchdown of the second half climaxed an 86 yard drive by Circleville. The drive was sparked by a dazzling 58-yard run by Bruce Horn, junior halfback for the Tigers.

Horn has by far the best average per try for Circleville. He has carried the ball only twice this year. The first time, at Olentangy, he threaded his way through the Olentangy defense for a 57 yard touchdown jaunt.

Dade then took over to chalk the touchdown from five yards out.

The final drive for Circleville started on their own 34. A pass picked up 13 yards. Dade ran for 18, Moore added seven and Dade plunged for one.

Dave Hannahs moved the ball to the Reynoldsburg 21 on a quarterback sneak.

With less than two minutes remaining in the game, Dade broke loose for another of his brilliant long gainers that covered the 21 yards and the final Circleville tally.

EXTRA POINTERS
Circleville gained 353 yards rushing and 24 passing.

Dade again led the Tigers in the ground gaining department, picking up 142 yards in 12 carries. That brings his season total to 431 yards in 39 tries.

Fyffe was the workhorse of the squad, carrying the ball 18 times for 116 yards.

Moore gained 25 yards in five carries and Hannahs recorded a net of 11 on nine carries.

Horn's 58-yard run makes the Tiger backfield look more like a "Fabulous Five" than a "Fantastic Four".

Hannahs completed three of six passes for 24 yards.

Reynoldsburg completed two of 10 passes for 36 yards and gained 164 on the ground. Nease was their leading groundgainer, with 79 on 14 attempts — he was also the Raider passer.

Each team lost three fumbles. The Tigers dropped the agate six times and the Raiders bobbled the ball five times.

The Circleville Cheerleaders, Lynn Reichelderfer, Carolyn Walters, Brenda Smith, Sharon Evans, Doris Vanhoush and Margaret Johnson (The Tiger), got almost as big a cheer when they first appeared on the field as the Tiger gridders themselves.

Circleville side of the field appeared to have more fans than the Reynoldsburg section. Roundtown continues to be noted for backing its football team.

John Jenkins borrowed his brother Joe's open bed pickup truck and hauled a bevy of pretty young Tiger fans to the game. We'll bet there were some cold noses and feet in the back of that vehicle before it reached Circleville.

Two of Circleville's first three games were on the road. The opening South Central League tilt this Friday is at Pleasant View, making it three of four on the road.

There is no way of checking, but we bet the Tiger fans are outnumbering the opposition by a large majority.

Coach Benhase said the score of last night's game could have been 66-6 instead of 33-6. And he

DROP THE HANKY — Circleville fans at Reynoldsburg last night saw plenty of "red." The Tigers were penalized 12 times for 105 yards. Reynoldsburg was called for one rule infraction — a 15 yard clipping penalty. Here an official retrieves his off-used flag.

Logan Elm Braves Power to 2nd Win

The Braves of Logan Elm roared to their second win of the season, defeating a tough new Lexington St. Aloysius team 14-0 on the new football field at Logan Elm High School.

Arnie Gabriel scored the first touchdown for the Braves, going 10 yards off tackle for the score. His jaunt climaxed a 48-yard march by the Braves. They used just seven plays in the drive.

Terry Anderson, one of Logan's Elm's speedy halfbacks raced around his own right end for the two-point conversion. The Braves came back with 1:30 remaining in the second quarter to score their next touchdown. Gary Hardman plunged into the end zone from the six. His dash climaxed a 53-yard drive. The pass for the extra point was completed, but was nullified by an illegal procedure penalty, making the half-time score read, 14-0.

IN THE first half the St. Al team had the ball fourth and one on the Logan Elm eight yard line, but the visitors were unable to pick up the necessary yardage for the first down and the Braves took over.

This was the deepest penetration into Braves territory mustered by the opponents.

In the second interlude both teams battled on equal grounds, neither allowing a touchdown.

Offensively, the Braves collected 10 first downs rushing, and nine passing. New Lex collected six running and four through the air.

The host team garnered a total of 197 yards to 181 for St. Al. The visitors from Perry County completed seven or 15 pass attempts for 97 yards.

NEITHER team fumbled. The Braves punted four times and St. Al twice.

GARY HARDMAN

Hardman, junior halfback for the Braves, was singled out by coach Keith Merrin as his outstanding offensive player. He danced his way for 115 yards in 14 carries, scored one touchdown and intercepted the pass that set up the other Logan Elm TD.

Arnie Gabriel worked for 59 yards in 17 carries. Defensively, Merrin singled out Brad Dunkle, a senior end playing his first year of football, as a solid performer.

He noted that the Braves' pass defense seemed weak, but added that the Perry county gridders dis-

Quick Pitch Fails To Help Redleg Crew

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"I can see nothing illegal with Jay's new pattern of pitching," says Jimmy Gallagher, head of baseball's rules committee.

Joey Jay's controversial new quick delivery may be legal, but it didn't do much for the Cincinnati Reds Friday night. Philadelphia shelled him for 14 hits and beat the Reds 8-6.

Gallagher went to the game expressly to see if Jay was violating any rules, as some teams have claimed.

Jay's mates staked him to a five-run early lead, but he couldn't hold it and was driven from the mound in the seventh. The Reds made a bid to recoup in the ninth inning when Leo Cardenas led off with a double and Don Blasingame singled him in.

Vada Pinson beat out an infield hit, but Frank Robinson struck out and Wally Post hit into a double play.

Cardenas had touched off the four-run first inning with a single. A walk, single by Robinson, Jerry Lynch's triple and Marty Keough's sacrifice fly followed. Pinson singled home Johnny Edwards who had doubled in the second inning.

But from there on it was all Philadelphia, with Don Demeter's two-run homer finally putting the Phils ahead. Jack Baldschun (12-7) got the win in relief of Art Mahaffey who failed in his try for his 20th victory.

Boston Clobbers Cinderella Denver

BOSTON (AP)—Boston has undisputed possession of first place in the American Football League's Eastern Division—at least temporarily.

The Patriots knocked the Cinderella crew from Denver out of the unbeaten ranks Friday night with a 41-16 American Football League victory. Despite the fact that the Broncos had a 497-361 yardage bulge in total offense, Boston won it because it had the defense at the vital stages.

If Boston is to maintain its unchallenged divisional lead it will need a victory by winless Buffalo over New York tonight and a San Diego verdict over Houston Sunday.

Dallas, sole unbeaten survivor, faces Oakland Sunday.

Tigermen Crush Reynoldsburg, 33-6, for Third Victory

FLYING TIGER — Garold Dade, Circleville's leading groundgainer and scorer, flies over the goal line for the final touchdown at Reynoldsburg last night to give the Roundtowners a 33-6 win. Dade gained 142 yards and scored three touchdowns.

Dade Paces CHS Onslaught

By STEVE JONES

The Circleville Tigers powered their way to a 33-6 win at Reynoldsburg last night — a victory that was highlighted by powerful running by the Circleville backfield, outstanding team play and penalties galore against the Tigers.

Circleville was called for 12 rule infractions by the officials. They were set back a total of 105 yards and the Reynoldsburg captain refused one off-side penalty.

	C	R
First downs rushing	11	8
First downs passing	1	0
Total first downs	12	8
Net yards rushing	353	128
Net yards passing	24	36
Passes attempted	6	10
Passes completed	3	2
Penalty yardage	105	15
Fumbles	6	5
Fumbles lost	2	2
Punts	2(29)	3(29.6)

In the first half alone, the Tigers had one touchdown run nullified — a beautiful pass play from quarterback Dave Hannahs to fleet Garold Dade for 46 yards — and gave up 80 yards via penalties.

Reynoldsburg was penalized once — 15 yards for clipping.

CARL BENHASE, Tiger coach, said after the game that he was disappointed with the officiating. He said he saw only one clipping infraction during the game. The Tigers were set back 60 yards on four clipping penalties.

For his squad, the Circleville mentor had nothing but praise. "It was strictly a team victory, and every boy on the squad played good football," Benhase said.

Reynoldsburg won the toss and elected to receive. Duke Fyffe kicked to the Reynoldsburg 17 and Jim Martin returned the ball to the Raiders' 25. On the first play from scrimmage, Ralph Hughes, a 201-pound junior fullback for the Franklin County gridders blasted up the middle for 15 yards, but on the next three plays the Raiders were unable to move the ball. They were forced to punt on the fourth down with 10 yards to go.

Dade gathered in the punt on 25 and danced and squirmed up the field to the losers' 38 before he was dropped.

On two plays Fyffe picked up 12 yards and a first down on the Reynoldsburg 26. Another plunge by the Tiger fullback picked up three more and then the Tigers were hit for the first of their penalties — five yards for offside. On the next play they were called for illegal procedure and the ball was moved back to the 33, making it second and 17 to go for the first down.

An off tackle slant by Dade, a plunge by Fyffe and a keeper by Hannahs picked up only nine yards, eight shy of the first down and Reynoldsburg was again in possession of the ball.

Three plays netted the Raiders a minus four yardage and they were again forced to punt, this time deep in their own territory.

MOORE took the punt on the Circleville 40, but a clipping penalty moved the ball back to the 26 where it was first and ten. Dade moved the ball nine yards to the 35 but Hannahs, unable to spot a receiver on a pass play, was dropped for a loss of four. An attempted pass from Hannahs to Dade was incomplete and it was the Tigers' turn to punt.

The Reynoldsburg receiver fumbled the ball and Ray Taylor recovered on hosts' 41. Two plays moved the ball to the 36, but the Tigers were called for slipping again and the line of scrimmage was moved to the Reynoldsburg 49.

The next Circleville offensive move was a double reverse, with Dade carrying the ball. The play completely fooled the Raider defense for an instant, giving the Roundtowners a flash of the running room he needed to score the first touchdown of the game. Ray (The Toe) Taylor booted the extra point. Fyffe kicked off to the Reynoldsburg 26 and it was returned to the 35, but the Raiders were again unable to get their offense moving. Tom Copland recovered a Reynoldsburg fumble on the Circleville 38.

It was during this touchdown drive that followed that the Hannahs-to-Dade pass was called back. The Tigers moved the ball from their own 44 for the touchdown, with Fyffe providing most of the yardage on runs of 12 and 24 yards.

Moore bulled over from the one-yard line, carrying a host of Reynoldsburg defenders into the end zone for the touchdown. Hannahs fumbled the ball going for the two conversion points.

THE Reynoldsburg Raiders fumbled on the second play following the kickoff and big Clesson Thomas recovered in the 21 yard line. Fyffe and Moore combined to gain the necessary yardage for a touchdown in three plays, with Fyffe going over from nine yards out. Moore added two points giving Circleville a 21-0 lead.

Reynoldsburg was forced to punt on a fourth and six situation on their own 45, and it was then they reaped the lone break of the game they were able to capitalize on.

Dade fumbled the punt on the Tiger 26 and the hosts recovered. Reynoldsburg's first play lost three yards but Tim Pheister caught Bob Nease's pass in the end zone for the lone score a minute later.

With time running out in the first half the Tigers tried for a first down in a fourth and one situation. They didn't pick up the necessary yardage.

Reynoldsburg, trying desperately for another scoring play in the first half, fired a pass deep into Circleville territory that was intercepted by Dade. The fleet halfback returned it to the midfield stripe where he was nailed as the half ended.

In the second half the Tiger defense turned in an excellent job of throttling the Raider offensive punch, limiting them to seven first downs and 131 yards. Thirty-four of those yards came on the next to last play of the game after Benhase had pulled his first team out to give them a deserved rest.

CIRCLEVILLE, on the other hand, gained 184 yards collected eight first downs and scored two touchdowns.

The first touchdown of the second half climaxed an 86 yard drive by Circleville. The drive was sparked by a dazzling 58-yard run by Bruce Horn, junior halfback for the Tigers.

Horn has by far the best average per try for Circleville. He has carried the ball only twice this year. The first time, at Orlentangy, he threaded his way through the Orlentangy defense for a 57 yard touchdown jaunt.

Dade then took over to chalk the touchdown from five yards out.

The final drive for Circleville started on their own 34. A pass picked up 13 yards. Dade ran for 18, Moore added seven and Dade plunged for one.

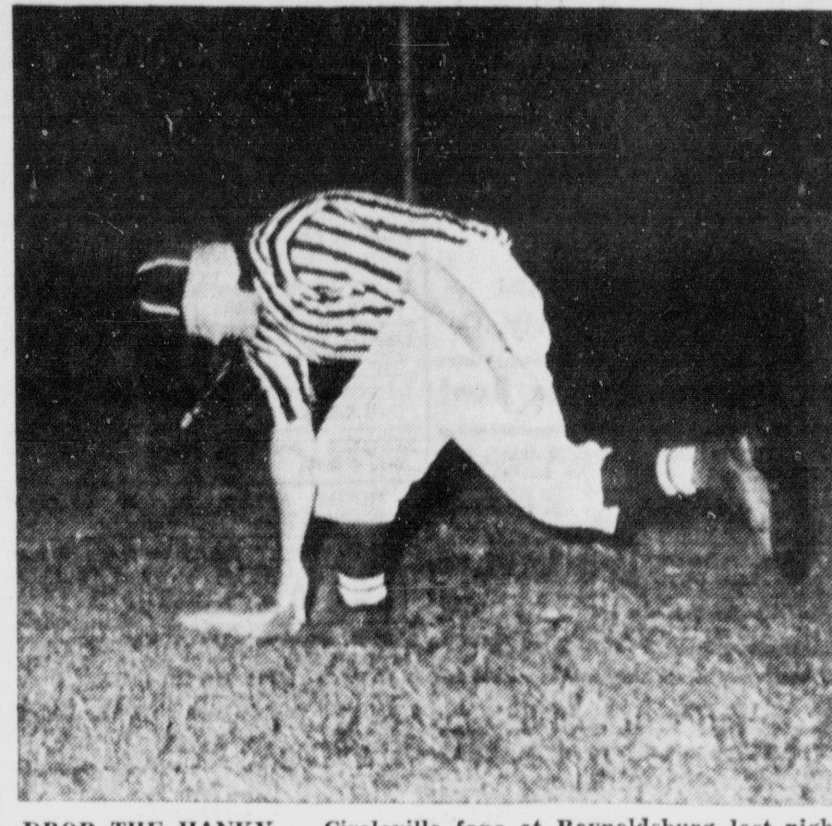

Dave Hannahs moved the ball to the Reynoldsburg 21 on a quarterback sneak.

With less than two minutes remaining in the game, Dade broke loose for another of his brilliant long gainers that covered the 21 yards and the final Circleville tally.

EXTRA POINTERS

Circleville gained 353 yards rushing and 24 passing.

Dade again led the Tigers in the ground gaining department, picking up 142 yards in 12 carries. That brings his season total

DROP THE HANKY — Circleville fans at Reynoldsburg last night saw plenty of "red." The Tigers were penalized 12 times for 105 yards. Reynoldsburg was called for one rule infraction — a 15 yard clipping penalty. Here an official retrieves his oft-used flag.

Logan Elm Braves Power to 2nd Win

The Braves of Logan Elm roared to their second win of the season, defeating a tough new Lexington St. Aloysius team 14-0 on the new football field at Logan Elm High School.

Arnie Gabriel scored the first touchdown for the Braves, going 10 yards off tackle for the score.

His jaunt climaxed a 48-yard march by the Braves. They used just seven plays in the drive.

Terry Anderson, one of Logan's Elm's speedy halfbacks raced around his own right end for the two-point conversion.

The Braves came back with 1:30 remaining in the second quarter to score their next touchdown. Gary Hardman plunged into the end zone from the six. His dash climaxed a 53-yard drive. The pass for the extra point was completed, but was nullified by an illegal procedure penalty, making the half-time score read, 14-0.

IN THE first half the St. Al team had the ball fourth and one on the Logan Elm eight yard line, but the visitors were unable to pick up the necessary yardage for the first down and the Braves took over.

This was the deepest penetration into Braves territory mustered by the opponents.

In the second interlude both teams battled on equal grounds, neither one allowing a touchdown.

Minnesota Gridders Light; Face Tough '62 Schedule

By WALTER JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—They're building all over this sprawling University of Minnesota campus, with the 28,000 students here expected to budge to 60,000 in the next 10 years and they're building on the football field where those Rose Bowlers, the Gophers, have lost nine regulars, including their All-American quarterback, Sandy Stephens.

Murray Warmath, the man they hanged in effigy only three years ago, became the hero of the hour last year when the Gophers went on to a Rose Bowl victory over U.C.L.A. and the many calls for coaching clinics kept Murray busy all summer.

The "bigness" that characterized Minnesota football for so many years is just about gone. Starting with the coach himself, who has lost 40 pounds and eats no lunch because of gallstones, the Gophers are smaller everywhere even including the backfield which has a gross weight loss of 93 pounds from last year's fine team.

Where the Gophers will finish this year is just a guess and Murray will tell you that "every team in the Western Conference will be improved—and that doesn't include Minnesota."

In a run-down of his squad, which had a 7-3 record, Warmath draws out the following:

"We have played a tough 'schemed-yule' for two years and this one is even tougher. And we're not as good as we were last year. We had more depth the last two years and could field alternate teams composed of lettermen. Now we're having a hard time finding 11 starters."

"The first problem," he says, "is to replace Stephens, one of the finest quarterbacks we have had here. Maybe he didn't lead the Conference in passing but he threw nine touchdown passes and was an outstanding leader and it's hard to replace a boy like this."

"It'll take a lot of luck to come up with a good football player in that position."

"Depth is the next problem. With fewer players to play, less reserve strength and a tougher schedule we have problems. We're physically smaller. This is the lightest football team we've had since I've been here." (Murray is in his ninth year.)

There are some outstanding players, of course, including All-American Bobby Bell at tackle, Bill Munsey, the great left half; end John Campbell, fullback Jerry Jones, and tackle Carl Eller, a 241-pound behemoth whom many here will say is better than Bell.

The key problem, quarterback, will have to be solved by Duane Blaska, a senior who has some experience but "isn't out in the twilight zone all by himself by any means," according to Murray.

Behind him are Paul Ramseth, a junior and two sophoms, John Hankinson and Larry Peterson, both very green.

The halfbacks are good. Munsey, the top star, was hailed by Murray as "one boy worthy of national prominence. He does everything better than most players."

Behind Munsey is Al Fisher, a senior, and Bill Crockett a 152-pound soph. Crockett is a sprinter and a tough little guy but not a Big Ten football player yet.

At the other half is Jim Cairns, who was a second-teamer last year. Cairns is a shifty runner and improved. Behind him is junior Jerry Pelletier, who was a quarter last year and weighs only 152 pounds.

Ranking behind Jones at full is Dick Enga, the team captain and a center last year. Enga will fill a utility role even though he is the squad leader.

Bob Prawdick, a big senior, is the left end with a junior, who didn't play, and a soph behind him. Three outstanding flankers were graduated, including four of the six who played regularly. At the other end is John Campbell, another big senior who has improved tremendously. Murray described him as "the best end on this squad by four times over."

Eller and Bell gave the squad the best one-two tackle pair in the country. Behind Eller is Milt Sundt, a junior, and behind Bell is Fred Nord, at 232 the only other big man on the line besides Eller.

Larry Hartse, a junior, and Julian Hook, a two-letterman, are the top guards. Hook is much improved and will play both ways. But he weighs only 180 pounds. The other guards are guys who haven't played much football.

Paul Benson, senior, is the center with Enga moved to fullback and one of the underdogs here is a promising soph, Frank Marchlewski, a 214-pounder.

Dick Harren, a 190-pound sophomore halfback from St. Paul, is being hit by knee ailments and his future is uncertain. Here they thought that Harren was the best back to come out of the state in 10 years.

Minnesota opens with a couple of tough non-Conference foes in Missouri and Navy. The Middles are being met for the first time. Following them come Northwestern, Illinois, Michigan, Michigan State, Iowa, Purdue and Wisconsin.

Bourbon Whisky Bill Brings Snort to Ohioan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Frank T. Bow, R - Ohio, says House passage of a bill prohibiting bourbon whisky a distinctive U.S. product is evidence that "the silly season is upon us once again."

The bill calls on the government to prevent imports of any liquor labeled "bourbon."

Said the 16th District representative: "I assume there was jubilation in the hills of Kentucky but the rest of us are anxious to get down to business and bring this session to an end."

Al (Cannonball) Gerlick, 1959 lineman at Syracuse, is assisting in coaching duties with the Orange freshmen.

Emancipation Proclamation Labeled Beginning, Not End

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy marked the 100th anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation today by saying it "must be regarded not as an end but a beginning."

The President's prepared remarks were carried by radio and television to the nation and to ceremonies here marking the return to Washington of the original draft of the proclamation that Abraham Lincoln first made public 100 years ago.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York was to present the document to Allan Nevins, chairman of the National Civil War Centennial Commission.

Also speaking at ceremonies on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial were Adlai Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, and U.S. Dist. Judge Thurgood Marshall.

The draft of the proclamation was sent to Albany, N.Y., in 1864 where it was raffled off at a bazaar for wounded Union soldiers. The state of New York purchased it and has possessed it since.

Kennedy said Lincoln's proclamation, which freed three million Negro slaves in 10 Southern states, launched a century that "since has seen the struggle to convert freedom from rhetoric to reality. It has been in many respects a somber story."

The President said that during much of the period Negroes were divided by segregation, denied the vote, subjected to terror and refused equal opportunity for education and employment.

"Looking back at this period, one must observe two remarkable facts," Kennedy said.

"The first is that despite humiliation and deprivation, the Negro retained his loyalty to the United States and to democratic institutions. . . . The second is that despite deprivation and humiliation the Negro has never stopped working for his own salvation. . . ."

"It can be said, I believe, that Abraham Lincoln emancipated the slaves, but that in this century since our Negro citizens have emancipated themselves," Kennedy continued.

"And the task is not finished. Much remains to be done to eradicate the vestiges of discrimination and segregation, to make equal rights a reality for all of our people. . . ."

TV Vikings Win Defensive Tilt At Triad Local

Pickaway County Gridders Allow Only 63 Net Yards

The Teays Valley Vikings held Triad Local scoreless through four quarters of hard fought football and sandwiched in a first half touchdown and conversion to win their first Darby Valley League encounter 8-0.

Dan Hollenback, 170-pound senior fullback, was the leading ground gainer and provided the scoring punch for the Viking win.

After an exchange of punts early in the game, Teays Valley drove to the 15 where Triad, with the help of a penalty forced the Vikings into a fourth down situation.

Dave Reese, sophomore quarterback, hit Hollenback with a quick pass and the bruising Viking fullback carried the ball in for the score.

A PASS from Reese to end Mike Seymour was good but was nullified by a penalty, moving the ball back to the eight yard line.

Hollenback then blasted over his own right tackle for the two-point conversion.

The Vikings gained 89 yards through the air and 163 on the ground, but could muster only one scoring punch. Penalties in key spots and the offenses' own mistakes slowed the Teays Valley attack, according to Marion Waites head coach.

Defensively the Vikings were impenetrable. They gave up only 63 yards in the entire contest — 35 through the air and 28 rushing.

During the second half they held their Darby Valley League opponents to a minus net of two yards. Waites, in commenting on the Viking performance, said: "Defensively we improved this week. Our defense during the second half was satisfactory."

This last comment may be rated an understatement in view of the Vikings' fine defensive showing the last three outings.

In the three contests, the Vikings have allowed only one touchdown. Last week they held Walnut Ridge to 108 yards and in the season opener they limited Amanda-Clearcreek to 83.

STANDOUTS in the Viking defensive alignment are linebackers, Ron Will, a 155-pound senior and Gary Pennington, a 135-pound sophomore; the middle guard, Jim Neal, a 165-pound senior; Jerry Smith a 225-pound tackle and the ends Bill Pritchard, and John Ridenour, 165-pound juniors.

The three TV opponents each has been held to less than 100 yards rushing.

Hollenback gained 67 yards in 17 carries last night to lead the Teays Valley rushing for the third consecutive week.

Reese intercepted two Triad passes. He completed seven of the aeriels he attempted.

Next week the Vikings host Madison South in their second Darby Valley League encounter. The Madison South 11 is rated as one of the top teams in the DVL.

Officials who attended the game said Teays Valley was well represented by local fans.

NFO Ponders Milk Boycott

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The National Farmers Organization plans two more meetings to air the issue of possible withholding of milk from market in the campaign for steady prices from processors to farmers.

The first meeting was held Friday night in Canton; the second at the Bellefontaine High School at 8 p.m. Tuesday and the third at Springfield, time and place to be announced.

J. N. Robinson, assistant national director of organization, said the meetings across 11 states are designed to give dairy members a chance to decide whether they want to add milk to the list of farm commodities to be withheld from the market. Non-members, he said, are invited to attend the meetings to hear an explanation of NFO aims, but will not be permitted to vote.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio weather outlook:

An area of low pressure advancing eastward across the Midwest caused widespread cloudiness over Ohio during the early morning hours today. Showers ahead of this low pressure area reached the extreme northwest counties during the night, but elsewhere over the state it was dry.

The layer of clouds kept temperatures well above the freezing mark but readings early this morning still were below seasonal normals. The coolest spots were in the southeastern counties, where Zanesville reported 42 degrees and Marietta and Chesapeake 43.

The temperature ranged upward at 50 at Cincinnati and Dayton while Columbus and Toledo had 49.

The area of low pressure, lying from Chicago southwestward this morning, is forecast to move east of Ohio by Sunday morning. Mostly cloudy weather with a few showers and possible thunderstorms was predicted for the state today.

Sunday will be partly cloudy and dry. Temperatures will continue below seasonal normals over the weekend.

mediately adopted and implemented by the other NATO allies and friends," he said.

Rogers told the House that friendly merchant ships have been transporting goods to Cuba, then loading up with cargoes at U.S. ports for "profitable return trips."

Said Rogers: "This situation in effect had the United States helping to support a portion of the Soviet-Cuban buildup contrary to the best interests of our nation."

Meanwhile, the Cuban caldron still boiled on Capitol Hill.

House leaders slammed the door on any toughening up of the congressional "fight - if - necessary" declaration on Cuba.

Some members had demanded stronger and more specific language and action. But the Rules Committee Friday barred amendments when the resolution comes up for a House vote Wednesday.

Thus the House will act on the same resolution passed Thursday by the Senate, which declared U.S. determination to use whatever means are needed to prevent Communist aggression from Cuba.

Astronaut Flight Delayed to Oct. 3

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A sticky valve in Walter M. Schirra's "Sigma 7" spacecraft has caused a delay until at least Oct. 3 and probably longer, in his attempt to orbit the earth six times.

The proposed flight hit a snag Friday when preflight checkouts disclosed a problem with a selector valve in the capsule's automatic control system. Rather than take a chance on the valve, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration called off the flight until at least Oct. 3. It had been scheduled for Sept. 28.

Space agency officials said the exact cause of the difficulty was not known. They said only that a valve was sticking and that the spacecraft would have to be removed from the Atlas for study.

Khrush May Seek Kennedy Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev reportedly hinted to foreign visitors recently that he might like to have a talk with President Kennedy on the Berlin situation late this year.

U.S. officials are cool to such a meeting because of the danger that sharp disagreement at the summit level would inflame East-West tensions.

There has been speculation in diplomatic quarters that Khrushchev may decide to attend some sessions of the U.N. General Assembly in New York in late November. Well informed diplomats now believe that if he does, his purpose will be not only to appear in the assembly but to create an opportunity for a meeting with Kennedy.

In 1950 the output per man in the bituminous coal industry was 6.77 tons. Ten years later through mechanization, the productivity rate jumped to 13.25 tons per man day.
